

Supporting Hybrid Strategies for the Modern Workplace

Robin eliminates the friction associated with managing today's workplaces

Hybrid work requires clear and simple processes for anyone who comes into an office. The logistics of resource management and employee experience can be daunting, and workplace leaders need a centralized solution.

73%

of managers using a workplace experience platform reported being empowered with appropriate tools to execute their hybrid work strategy

Wainhouse Research, Survey of 200 Line-of-Business leaders, July 2022

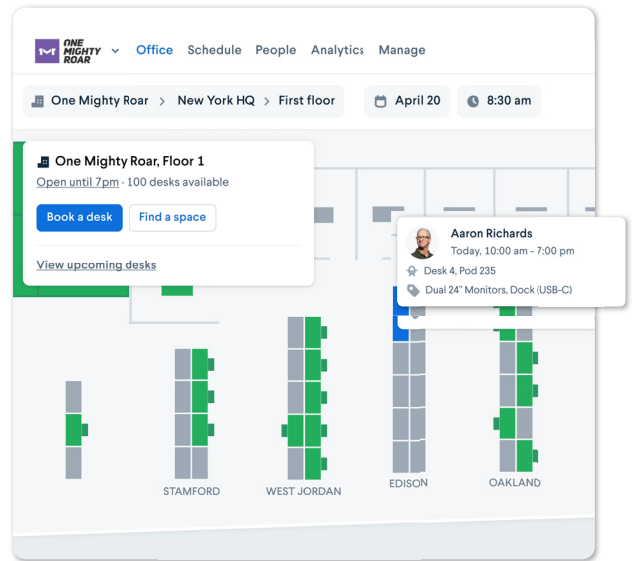

Robin's user-friendly platform fits seamlessly into your team's daily workflows. Finding coworkers, booking spaces, and reserving a work area is simple and intuitive, eliminating friction and helping teams easily interact with the workplace and each other.

You don't just simply say, 'The office is open. If you want to show up, show up. If not, don't.' Instead you need to create an expectation of thoughtfulness in team decisions and behaviors, with business outcomes as your north star. Robin enables that.

Matteo Fabiano, CMO of Moviri

How Robin supports modern office management:

Easily find where you need to be and who you want to see

Search for people, available workspaces and/or resources to help facilitate any workday.

Manage meeting rooms and spaces on your terms

Set booking policies, enable check-ins and keep tabs on your overall workplace usage.

Coordinate office resources with ease

Make it easy to find and book desks, adjusting your workplace map as it changes.

Set up flexible seating areas

Add workstations such as couches, tables, stools and more to your floor plan.

Schedule a demo to see Robin in action at robinpowered.com

