

The average U.S. office capacity increased for July despite the Delta variant's rise

~30%

18%

July Bounce Rate

Employee bounce rate in the U.S. continues to rise, a slight uptick from 16% in June

The average U.S. office had a 43% increase in the number of employees returning

% increase in employees returning to the office by city:

SAN FRANCISCO

Saw a 50% increase in desk bookings and a 153% increase in the number of employees returning to the office. Financial services, professional services, and tech are driving the returns.

LOS ANGELES

Saw big increases in employees returning and desk bookings, 160% and 195% respectively.

CHICAGO

Saw an uptick in employees returning with 83% and desk bookings at 161%.

BOSTON

Continued to grow in both mo/mo desk bookings and had a 64% growth in employees returning to the office.

NEW YORK

Lags behind national average with only an 11% increase in desk bookings and a 9% increase in employees returning to the office.

Top 3 industries for average days employees spend in the office

1. Hospitality
2. Transportation
3. Construction*

* Construction notably had a 3% decrease in employees in the office in July compared to June.

Top 3 industries for % increase in bookings

1. Mining, oil and gas
2. Utilities
3. Retail

Australia and New Zealand continue to see decreased office use

Once above 50% capacity in May, dropped back into the 20%'s by the end of July.

Want to learn more? Feel free to email us at, hello@robinpowered.com